Dear _____,

Once again, it is time to put the Tucson Junior Strings Yearbook together. We hope that you will consider purchasing ad space in our yearbook. Your involvement in this way is crucial to our success.

Along with providing lasting memories for our students, the yearbook also provides advertisement for your business. There are approximately 200 students enrolled as members of Tucson Junior Strings, along with their family and friends, who receive yearbooks annually. This creates a great value in terms of exposure to the public your ad would receive. The yearbook also is placed in locations such as doctors' offices, businesses, and other public places.

In addition to making the yearbook possible, the proceeds from your ad would allow Tucson Junior Strings to fund concert tours, provide music coaches for rehearsals, as well as offer financial assistance to students in need. We look forward to having your ad as a part of the 2016 Tucson Junior Strings Yearbook.

Enclosed in this mailing you will find the form you will need to submit your ad. We have also included additional information about our organization. When you have completed filling out the form, mail it back with the information necessary for your ad, along with a check for the type of ad you request. We need to receive the form and check by April 1, 2016.

Tucson Junior Strings truly appreciates your participation in this volume of memories! Thanks to you, these students will continue to be provided with opportunities for musical growth and leadership, taking the experiences from their time in TJS with them throughout their lives.

Sincerely,

Tucson Junior Strings

Tucson Junior Strings is a non-profit 501 (c) 3 organization

Tucson Junior Strings is a music education program for our community's young string musicians. Tucson Junior Strings (TJS) consists of six orchestras that rehearse in three Tucson locations. TJS works closely with public schools and private teachers of the community to add perspective and dimension to individual preparedness, leadership, and teamwork. Young musicians can enter the program as early as six years old and continue through their senior year of high school. As a result, many former TJS members have continued to grow as adult performers, attending prestigious music schools, and performing in professional symphony orchestras throughout the United States and Internationally.
